The consultants at GMAT coaching are people who have crossed the minefield and they know what it takes to get into a good MBA program. They have done what you are doing now and they have successfully completed their MBA from a reputed school and have graduated from those schools before serving on the admissions committee for their respective schools. The wealth of experience that backs you in your pursuit towards MBA is priceless. Rest assured you can relax knowing well that the work is being handled by people who know what they are doing.
